With its enchanting illustrations and soothing narrative, Time for Bed is the perfect companion for winding down at the end of a busy day. The story follows a young boy as he embarks on a bedtime routine filled with comforting rituals and playful adventures.

A Heartwarming Tale for Bedtime

As the moon casts its silvery glow upon the land, a young boy named Max prepares for bed. He brushes his teeth, puts on his pajamas, and snuggles into his cozy bed. But before he closes his eyes, Max has one more important task: to say goodnight to all his beloved toys.

One by one, Max bids farewell to his stuffed animals, dolls, and action figures. Each toy has its own unique personality and charm, and Max cherishes the bond he shares with them. As he says goodnight to each toy, Max reflects on the adventures they've shared together.

With each toy he tucks in, Max's eyelids grow heavier and heavier. The gentle rhythm of the story and the soothing illustrations lull him deeper into a state of relaxation. Soon, Max's breathing becomes slow and steady, and he drifts off to sleep, surrounded by the love of his toys.

Stunning Illustrations That Bring the Story to Life

The illustrations in Time for Bed are a work of art in their own right. Philippe Nessmann's unique style combines bold colors, soft textures, and intricate details to create a captivating visual experience.

Each illustration is carefully crafted to evoke a sense of comfort and tranquility. The soft glow of the moon, the cozy ambiance of Max's bedroom, and the adorable expressions of the toys all contribute to the book's enchanting atmosphere.

Nessmann's illustrations are not only beautiful, but they also serve to enhance the story's message. The toys that Max says goodnight to are more than just objects; they are symbols of the love and security that he feels in his home.
